The Truth About the World's Deadliest Virus (Communism)

[Ed. Note: This is a transcript I compiled of a video by Charlie Kirk's TurningPoint USA. I strongly advise all to read and absorb this powerful, historical, linking of the writings of Karl Marx in 1848 to leftist goals in America today.]

You can't kill an idea, but an idea can kill you. What if I told you that this has all happened before—the riots, the violence, the church burnings, the attacks on police, the destruction of private property—all in the name of equality? What is the deadliest thing mankind has ever encountered in history? Is it disease, famine, nuclear weapons? Not even close. A sheer body count is an idea. This is the story of the deadliest virus in the world—Communism.

The year is 1848. Europe is burning, political upheaval leads to mass, violent, riots in over fifty countries. Buildings burn, shops are looted and national militias are called in to help quell the mob. Sound familiar? This year an obscure Socialist named Karl Marx publishes the Communist Manifesto. The Communist Manifesto outlines how to destroy capitalism and usher in communism thru the means of Socialism. To accomplish this goal, the manifesto pits two groups against each other based on their identity—bourgeois vs. proletariat, essentially, business owners vs. the workers of that business. See, identity hatred is the key component that makes communism work.

“The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles,” Marx writes. Today we would call this identity politics. The principle's the same. Define people by their groups and pit them against each other with a perceived injustice and then violence. Marx embraces violence. He calls for the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions and for the common ruin of the classes. What we are left with is a communist state. Marx explains plainly what this would look like—complete state ownership of your life. No private property, high taxes, government control of communications and the media, jobs for workers, mandatory government education, and government that supersedes the church in power. These are the programs that the left is pushing today nearly two hundred years after the Communist Manifesto and are using identity politics and, yes, violence to do it. Remember, this is about power and control.

In 1917 Marx's ideas got their big shot. Vladimir Lenin was a Marxist exile living in Switzerland during World War I. Lenin believed wholeheartedly in communism and saw the Russian political upheaval during the war as his shot to create a communist state. Shockingly, when Lenin asked the German military for passage to Russia in the midst of a war between the two countries, Germany enthusiastically said yes. The Germans treated Lenin and his communism as a deadly weapon to be used against their Russian enemy, a virus to infect the opponent and cripple them. The Germans agreed to transport Lenin across the front lines into Russia, but only via a sealed train so that Lenin and his virus could not break out into Germany.

Unleashing the deadly weapon of communism on the Russian people was a horrifically effective tactic. As soon as Lenin arrived in Russia, he began to employ identity politics and social justice as a potent tool in his civil war. Lenin told his armed revolutionaries in 1918, “Comrade! Hang (and I mean hang so that the people can see) not less than 100 known rich men. Do this so that for hundreds of miles around the people can see, tremble, know and cry: they are killing and will go on killing.”

Lenin won using identity politics to pit groups against each other, incite violence, create anarchy, and then the virus took hold. Private property and businesses were immediately dissolved, freedom of speech eliminated, individual freedoms crushed, economic collapse, famine, starvation, secret police raids, millions of Russians sent to conconcentration camps. More people were sent to concentration camps in Communist Russia than in Nazi Germany.

In spite of practiced horrors in Russia, communism spread and always by force. Eastern Europe, China, Vietnam, Cambodia, North Korea, Cuba, and parts of Africa fell to communist revolutions and dictators.

It's critical to note: this mass death is not caused by foreign forces, but from within. Communism kills in the name of equality. They kill their own people. Communists do not care. They're indifferent to the suffering. Man-made sufferings and famines and concentration camps are the norm, the cost of social justice.

The death-toll numbers under communism are staggering—Eastern Europe, 1 million; Vietnam, 1 million; Afghanistan, 1.5 million; parts of Africa, 1.5 million; North Korea, 2 million; Cambodia 2 million; Soviet Russia 20 million people. But nowhere is the genocidal, sociopathic, blood-lust more evident than the dark history of Communist China.

China became a communist state in 1949 after a long, bloody civil war led by Mao Tse Tung. After becoming a communist dictator, Mao joked about the killing of business owners in his own country, 30 million people, "We have so many people, we can afford to lose a few." Mao's great attempt to industrialize China, known as the Great Leap Forward, murdered more than 45 million people in a few short years, many simply from starvation. A total of 65 million Chinese nationals were murdered under Mao's communism. Mao kept power in spite of the genocide. Communists never give up power ever. They don't have to. The state is God and you are nothing.

Mao's political party remains in power in China to this day and they exercise an iron-clad grip on its people. The Chinese Communist Party's failed response to the Corona Virus cost many innocent people their lives. The virus outbreak, most likely from incompetent management of their own viral labs, was made exponentially worse by the Communist regime's inability to admit wrong-doing and warn the rest of the world. These actions inevitably led to the global spread of the virus resulting in the deaths of tens of thousands of Americans. But as always with Communism, the worst was yet to come. Many of the organized leftists torching American cities are Marxists. They say so and they are practicing the tenets of communism to the letter. "We are trained Marxists," says Black Lives Matter co-founder, Patrisse Cullors. "We are super-versed on ideological theories."

Use identity and class divisions to destroy public property, demonize capitalists, quickly persecute those who disagree with you, incite violence and seize power and control. In 1932 Stalinist-backed communists in Germany formed a group to violently clash with police, terrorize the public and physically assault their political enemies in the streets. The name of that group, ANTIFACHISTISCHE—ANTIFA. Their tactics have now moved to our streets and so have their motivations. Vladimir Lenin and Karl Marx both agreed—The goal is communism. Power and control. It is always about power and control.

What is happening right now in America is not new. In fact, it's centuries old. The tactics are meant to bewilder you and make you question your institutions. They're meant to divide us and raze what we know as America to the ground. It's a revolution by the deadliest virus known to man. Communism can't kill an idea, but ideas can kill you. We must fight this virus to survive.

Child Abuse

By Sid Dinerstein

 June, 2021

Child Abuse. The very words create images we dare not look at or think about. Nobody favors child abuse and all of us think of ourselves as totally intolerant of the concept. But are we? Let's take a tour through three very American, prevalent, and current examples of widespread child abuse. Then ask yourself: "Which side am I on?"

The first and largest example of child abuse is something we see every day: Mass school closings. Across our country, states have shut the school doors on children from five to eighteen; from kindergarten through high school. And, yes, this is largely a replay of Democrat governors standing in the schoolhouse doors, keeping millions of minority children from getting the education of their choice. "But, COVID," they scream. "We're following the science." To which I reply: "You lie." COVID is not a child's disease. Indeed, it's hardly a teachers' disease. Yet we tell eight-year-olds to spend six hours a day in front of a screen. And we don't even pretend to care about the 20% of high school students in a city like Los Angeles who never log on. We gave large portions of our educational decision-making to the National Educational Association, the teachers' union. And they took the money and ran. They have predictably put the students last. As union pioneer Al Shanker said two generations ago: "When the students start paying union dues, we'll represent them." The students who need their teachers and classrooms the most, the urban poor, are treated the worst. The results of no in-school learning for more than a year? Alienation, lack of socialization, lack of sports and exercise, and, most importantly, the premature closing of the window of greatest learning opportunity, sentencing a generation of students to unrealized potential. If I could have one wish for a policy that would save way more children than whales or polar bears, it would be this: Decertify all non-uniform public employee unions. Which side are you on?

Our child abuse tour continues outside of our country, in Mexico. All of Latin America has heard President Biden's call for open borders. The DACA concept is known globally: "Send us your children and one day they'll be our Democrats." And they come, by the hundreds of thousands. Unaccompanied minors, families, "misaccompanied" minors (children "chaperoned" by adults they do not know), whose intentions are evil—they all make the trip North. Some die, stuffed into large oxygen-deprived trucks. Some are raped, victims of the "coyote" industry that owes virtually all of its profits to President Biden. All are illegal, members of America's newest "protected" minority. Why? I'll tell you one reason: If President Trump secured the border and solved the immigration crisis, then President Biden must open the border and recreate the crisis. That's how his brain works. The children? The ones that survive will pay a lifetime price of a stolen childhood. Thanks, Joe. Which side are you on?

Our child abuse tour continues with a most controversial discussion topic: Under-aged transgenders. Did you even know such a thing exists? It does.

Children of all ages. Think about it. A twelve-year-old dresses like the other gender and comes to feel uncomfortable in his/her own skin. Compliant parents enable a series of hormone shots, a new wardrobe, a new hairdo and, voila, the child now "identifies" as the other gender. Sometimes surgery follows. And what do we have? A youngster too young to cast a vote or order a beer has now made a life-changing decision to alter his or her body, maybe irreversibly. I call it child abuse. Why? Because the child is not of a legal age to make such a decision. Because adults had to interfere to make it happen. Because recently "60 Minutes" highlighted "buyers' remorse" among some transgendered minors. The key word here is minors. There's a reason we define adults as eighteen plus. It's to give society's protection to our children. Again, which side are you on?

What did we learn? We learned that everybody says they care about the kids, but not everybody does. There are dollars to be made and votes to be had. Certainly, the teachers' union is not a friend of our kids. The Biden Administration puts Latin muchachos in harm's way every day. And the transgender community does not always protect its own. Democrats all. Which side are you on?

Big Tech Suppressed the Truth About COVID-19

This just came in from RNC Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel:

JUNE 7—“Big Tech oligarchs in Silicon Valley are well-known for their liberal bias. Time and time again, they have banned conservatives from their platforms for the crime of speaking out against left-wing orthodoxy. Their censorship efforts have targeted journalists, local Republican officials, and even the forty-fifth President of the United States. The ‘mainstream media,’ also noted for its liberal bias, does little to call out Big Tech’s attacks on free speech. There’s no question that these two institutions—Big Tech and the media—are squarely to the left of the American mainstream. Recently, they’ve been working together to suppress information about the origin and spread of COVID-19 in a stunning disservice to both the American public and truth itself.

“In December 2019, the first cases of COVID-19 were confirmed in Hubei, China. Observers noted that the Wuhan Institute of Virology, a Chinese Communist Party-sponsored lab which researches coronaviruses, deserved scrutiny for any possible role in the arrival of the virus. There’s no reason not to pursue every lead in exploring COVID-19’s origins, particularly given the scale of its devastation coupled with the documented dishonesty of China’s totalitarian regime. . . .

“Censoring political voices is bad enough, and Facebook has done so with such reckless abandon that they’ve drawn bipartisan criticism. There is added cause for concern when an unelected collection of Big Tech leaders shut down speculation about the deadliest pandemic in a century.

“Everyone has a right to discuss it freely—especially given that the virus just so happened to originate in China, a nation with a long history of human rights abuses, lying to the international community, and openly opposing American interests.

“In recent weeks, Facebook has suddenly changed its tune: they’ve now deemed the lab-leak theory credible, generously allowing us common folk to debate its merits in the public square. What changed? Politics.

“When Republican leaders like Senator Tom Cotton (R-Arkansas) and President Trump pointed out that China deserved scrutiny for its possible role in unleashing COVID-19, Big Tech and the liberal media pounced. They labeled good-faith, honest attempts to get to the bottom of COVID-19’s origin as fact-free conspiracy theories.

Now that Joe Biden faces pressure to investigate COVID’s origins and Anthony Fauci endures immense scrutiny for his past misleading comments, Facebook and the mainstream media are dutifully doing an about-face. A recent Washington Post headline read ‘Timeline: How the Wuhan lab-leak theory suddenly became credible.’ I’ll save you the reading—it was always credible. The political winds just happened to shift.

“In their leftward lurch, Big Tech and the mainstream media have progressed from propagating cancel culture to actively suppressing information about crucial global events. This is a trend that should concern every American regardless of party affiliation. The Republican Party remains committed to fighting left-wing censorship because we cannot allow unelected billionaires in Silicon Valley to suppress our public discourse.”

Visiting a Lockdown State

JUNE 7—I took a few days off to have some vacation time with my son whom I hadn’t seen in 18 months because he lives in Hawaii and the Democrat Governor there still imposes tyrannical lockdown rules and quarantining.

It was great to see him (he flies back tomorrow) but it got me to thinking about this whole Chinese Virus disinformation and censorship campaign.

Looking back, I realized that over the past 16 months, never before in American history have the American people been flat out lied to by their government, censored by social media, misled by the establishment medical community, and kept from obtaining the truth, like we have over the past 16 months.

What the heck is going on? For example:

1. The origin of the virus—A scientist who signed a letter denouncing any notion that the CCP (Chinese Communist Party) virus did not originate naturally now backs an investigation into the origins of the virus.

Dr. Peter Palese, a microbiologist at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York, was one of 27 scientists who signed the letter, which was published in The Lancet on March 7, 2020. “We stand together to strongly condemn conspiracy theories suggesting that COVID-19 does not have a natural origin,” the scientists wrote.

Palese now says he supports a probe. “I believe a thorough investigation about the origin of the Covid-19 virus is needed,” Palese told the Daily Mail. “A lot of disturbing information has surfaced since the Lancet letter I signed, so I want to see answers covering all questions.”

What the heck? Should not that have been a concern from the get-go?

2. Remember the physicians who posted the video on Facebook about potential cures for the virus? Facebook took it down and Twitter banned it. What the heck? Should not there have been a robust debate about how best to treat the virus?

3. When my wife and I got the virus, we were told to go to the hospital “if it gets bad enough.” What the heck? Should not the medical community have made suggestions to us about how to treat it, short of going to the hospital? They were silenced.

4. Why is there all this pressure for young people to get vaccinated when the mortality rate in younger people is just about zero? Especially when the medical community has ZERO knowledge about the potential long-term side effects of the vaccines. What the heck?

5. Why the conflicting signals about masks, especially wearing them outdoors with no one else around, when there is ZERO medical evidence that the virus spreads “in the mist”? What the heck?

These are only some of the questions I have.

You get the point. Something is amiss.

In times of universal deceit, truth becomes a revolutionary act.

The Best Governor in America Just Got Better

MAY 24—Fighting Big Tech and Critical Race Theory—Governor DeSantis is on target once again. . .

By signing Senate Bill 7072, Gov. Ron DeSantis poked his finger in the eye of Big Tech and garnered himself more credibility amongst conservatives and freedom lovers everywhere. All conservatives were enraged by the censorship of contrary views on the Wuhan Virus, the stealing of the 2020 election and any number of views that were contrary to liberal orthodoxy, and went ballistic when former President Donald Trump was de-platformed earlier this year.

As the first term governor is enjoying meteoric job approval, now tech companies like Facebook and Twitter will be fined $100,000 per day when they de-platform a political candidate. Go governor!

De-platformed congressional candidate Laura Loomer said: “I want to thank the Governor of the Great State of Florida, Ron DeSantis, who truly understands that Big Tech tyranny is an existential threat to our Constitutional Republic, to free and fair elections, and to free speech—which is the bedrock of our Constitution. . . .”

Florida becomes the first state in the nation to pass legislation to take on Big Tech. Governor DeSantis, leading the nation.

The coup de gras this week is his staunch opposition to critical race theory and will do everything in his power to ban it in our public schools.

Ron DeSantis, a Governor for our time.

Thank You, Governors Abbot and DeSantis

MAY 17—Once again, Biden is wrong and Republican leaders forge a better path, but you won’t read or see that from the leftist fearmongers.

TEXAS—May 17th: Texas reported zero COVID-19 deaths on Sunday, two months after President Joe Biden and other Democrats slammed the state’s reopening.

The state reported zero COVID-19 deaths for the first time since it started measuring them, Republican Gov. Greg Abbott announced on Twitter. Texas also reported only 388 new confirmed cases, its lowest total since March 30, 2020.

I’d rather be a freedom-loving Neanderthal than a control-loving socialist. Thank you, Governors Abbot and DeSantis.

Liberty and Freedom of Choice “Too Risky”

MAY 16—According to progressives, liberty and freedom of choice are “too risky.”

Progressives voiced their dismay following the CDC updated guidance that vaccinated people no longer need to wear masks indoors or outdoors.

Progressives and medical experts immediately criticized the new mask guidelines, arguing that the alteration was extreme and would be harmful to certain parts of the population. Others said the new guidance is confusing and could discourage people to get vaccinated.

“The CDC has done an about-face that’s shockingly abrupt: it’s confusing and could actually disincentivize vaccines,” Dr. Leana Wen, a George Washington University public health professor, tweeted after the announcement Thursday.

“Yes, vaccinated people are well-protected and not a threat to others,” she said in a later tweet. “But do we trust that the honor system—won’t unvaccinated people pretend to be vaccinated and stop wearing masks?”

“This is too risky in my opinion,” tweeted Dr. Eric Feigl-Ding, an epidemiologist and Federation of American Scientists senior fellow, in response to the CDC announcement.”

What is too risky is the acceptance by most Americans of their loss of freedom.

Why Do Republicans Win Elections?

By Larry Horist

May 24, 2021

Why DO Republicans win elections? That seems to be a reasonable question when you look at the numbers. The American public is demographically 31 percent Democrat and 25 percent Republican. That is a significant difference—about 20 million potential voters. But the biggest voting group is neither. Forty-one percent of us are non-affiliated—independents. That leaves a few folks belonging to marginal third parties—Libertarian, Socialist, Green, and even Communist.

There is a general assumption that the independents tend to lean Democrat when it comes to voting. That narrative is perpetrated by the elitist media ad nauseum. It is wishful thinking. You know . . . trying to make it true by saying so.

If it were true, then Republicans would most certainly get trounced for elective offices up and down the ballot. It would harken back to the 1930s when Democrats dominated virtually every major branch of government. Republicans cannot win without a sizeable chunk of the non-affiliated voters.

But every pollster caring enough to ask the right questions shows that the independent polarity is composed of a lot of “leaners”—folks who do not wish to join either party but have beliefs more in line with one or the other. And at the core of the independents are those who switch back and forth between the parties.

But why do they switch?

That should be obvious. Since the independents are—by nature—not partisan loyalists, they select candidates who best represent their philosophic views—conservative or liberal. They vote their beliefs. And that is where it gets interesting.

It seems that most independents tend to favor conservative values. So, they are inclined to vote with the Republicans more than not. This is where the GOP closes the gap between the 102.3 million Democrats and the 82.5 million Republicans.

State elections can be concentrations of one-party voters. That is why we talk about red states and blue states. It is in the presidential elections where we see the GOP pick up independent voters. If independents leaned left—as we are led to believe—there is no way a Republican candidate for president could even come close—not even close enough to win the Electoral College vote.

Because of the controversy over the 2020 presidential election, I shall eliminate it from this analysis.

You may have heard from media pundits and reporters that Republicans have not won a majority of the voters since President Reagan. That is provably not true. In fact, every winning Republican presidential candidate since 1960 has won with a majority of the vote. The only exception on either side was President Clinton, who won both of his elections with less than 50 percent of the vote.

We also must remember that going into the 2016 presidential election, the party with the lowest demographic membership—excluding the marginal parties—had control of two-thirds of the governorship and state legislatures, both house of Congress and thousands of state and local offices.

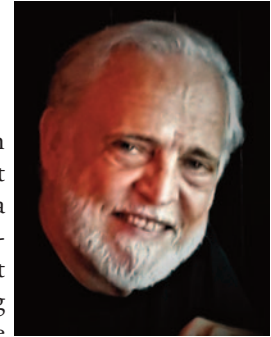

There was even pundit speculation at the time that should the Democrats lose the White House in 2016, they would be relegated to a regional bi-coastal party anchored in New York and California. And the GOP took the White House with one of the most controversial and unlikely candidates since Abraham Lincoln. Not bad for a party with allegedly no grassroots support.

One of the explanations why so may conservative-oriented individuals do not become Republicans is the constant demonization Republicans get from the biased media.

Republicans—and especially conservative Republicans—are deemed to be heartless, racists, xenophobes, homophobes, misogynists, etc. in the grind of daily news narratives. It is the values . . . the issues . . . that drive their vote. So, they avoid the party label, but vote for the GOP candidates. Some have labeled them the “silent majority”—or at least the majority makers.

That may also be true of those signed up as Democrats. We know from past elections that there is a significant number of Democrats who hold conservative values—and cross party lines to vote those values. They were once called the “Reagan Democrats,” and they helped propel the former Hollywood actor into the Oval Office. They have been part of the Republican coalition since then—despite the best efforts of union leaders to keep their members in the donkey party.

In 2020, Republican candidates did far better than the media pundits predicted—and even the most Democrat media pundits are saying that the GOP favored to take back the House.

Trump is an important player in the future of the GOP. He has a loyal following. He needs to make sure they stay in the ranks of the GOP—along with those conservatives who make the issues the primary motivation. That excludes the apostates who jumped ship because of Trump only to aid and abet the radical liberal Democrats. As far as I am concerned, their Republican/conservative membership is cancelled. When a soldier deserts to the other side, we do not call him a patriot.

So, what is the lesson to be learned? It is the issues, Stupid. If Republican candidates concentrate on mainstay conservative issues and the future—not personalities and the past—2022 will be a great year for the Grand Old Party.

So, there 'tis,

Move to the Sound of the Guns

By Allen West, Chairman of the Republican Party of Texas, June 7, 2021

“It is not the critic who counts. Not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood, who strives valiantly, who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds, who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions, who spends himself in a worthy cause, who at best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.”

—President Teddy Roosevelt

Last Friday evening, I had the distinct pleasure and honor of attending a Civil War reenactment in Jefferson, Texas, just north of Marshall. As we made our way down the dirt trail located along the bayou there, we came up the cleared, open field. As I parked and exited the vehicle, I looked over and saw a battery of civil war-era replica artillery pieces. Since I was an Army artillery officer, you know I made a beeline towards the guns. Upon arriving, I was greeted by the gun crews and I immediately made my request, “Can I fire the guns?” The crew was giddy and I ended up firing each of the four artillery pieces that they had. Most awesome was the Napoleon 10 pounder.

As the sun set, and darkness fell upon the field, the guns began to fire and the infantry soldiers exchanged rifle fire. Okay, for all you progressive socialists, there were no live rounds. I was reminded of the importance of knowing our history—not the revisionist idiocy of Critical Race Theory, the Marxist ideology with which the leftists are indoctrinating our children—but our history. As I was driving back to Tyler, Texas, the real essence of the evening hit me. As I gazed upon the dark field of simulated battle, my mind kicked back into warrior mode. I scanned the darkness looking for the flashes, and the sound of the guns. I learned in the Army that true warriors move to the sound of the guns.

How appropriate this thought is when we consider what is happening in our beloved Texas, and America.

#BattleOfBigCypressBayou

The guns are sounding forthwith in this ideological battle in which we are embroiled. Consider the dangers of our open, porous borders and what it means for the stability and security of our Lone Star State. Texas is the number one state in our nation for human and sex trafficking, Houston and Dallas are the top two cities.

The guns are sounding in our schools where leftism is sifting its way down into our elementary schools, and all points in between, filling the minds of our children with progressive socialist poison. The guns are sounding with the continued endangerment of our children being exposed to the absurdity of the mental condition of gender dysphoria, resulting in chemical and physical castration.

The guns are sounding in the streets of our major cities such as Houston, Dallas, Austin where leftist, Soros supported, District Attorneys are releasing criminals back onto the streets.

The guns are sounding all over this battlefield in the pitch dark night. However, the question is simple, will you make ready and move to the sound of the guns?

It was Ayn Rand who stated, “the uncontested absurdities of today are the accepted slogans of tomorrow. They come to be accepted by degrees, by dint of constant pressure on one side and constant retreat on the other—until one day, when they are suddenly declared to the country’s official ideology.”

The constant retreat of which Ms. Rand asserts is the refusal to move to the sound of the guns. Whether you stay hunkered down in your respective safe, or comfort zones, or you simply display the utter cowardice to running away from the constant pressure, the guns, of the progressive socialist left, the result is the same: progressive socialist leftism becomes the declared ideology of Texas, of these United States of America. Never forget the Feb 6, 2009, Newsweek cover emblazoned with the headline, “We Are All Socialists Now.”

The recent Texas 87th legislative session was indicative of one where the Republican majority did not move to the sound of the guns. Instead, the constant pressure of the left—including the insidious and immature walk out of Texas State House by Democrats—was met by the retreat of our Republican legislators, to the point where we must now call a special session to resolve our number one legislative priority, Election Integrity. When warned about giving Texas State House chairmanships to Democrats, there was an utter arrogance of officialdom that has befuddled many.

So, what must be done?

Teddy Roosevelt gave us the solution from his “Citizenship in the Republic” speech, his “Man in the Arena” quote. Texas will need those who are bold, courageous, dauntless, who will go into the arena, who will move to the sound of the guns. As the motto of the British Special Air Service (SAS) states, “Who Dares, Wins!”

Too often, those who feign commitment to our fundamental principles care more for the critics who heckle and instill fear and anxiety. Texas needs those men and women who will dare to go into the arena, all be damned to the critics. Texas needs those who will strive valiantly and dare greatly . . . not the cold and timid souls who will never know victory, or defeat, because they do not move to the sound of the guns.

This past Friday, I made the decision to move to the sound of the guns that are rumbling in the night here in Texas. I dare not be concerned with the critics or those cold timid souls. I have chosen to strive to do the deeds, to know great enthusiasms, to live following great devotions, and to spend myself in pursuit of a worthy cause. I seek to inspire others to experience the pure joys of knowing the triumph of high achievement. It is said that a coward dies a thousand times, but a hero only once. I choose the latter, especially since my trust, hope, and faith are in my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

I am a citizen of the Republic, the Republic of Texas, and the Constitutional Republic we call America. I choose to move to the sound of the guns and enter the arena and dare greatly, though I may be mired in mud and covered in sweat and blood. I now prepare to meet the constant pressure of the progressive socialist left with a resolute pressure of a constitutional conservative.

I ask you: do you hear the sound of the guns? Look out upon the dark horizon and you can see the flashes. What shall you do, hide in fear, retreat in cowardice, or move to the sound? The eyes of those who have gone before us are watching . . . and the hearts of those who will go after us are hoping.

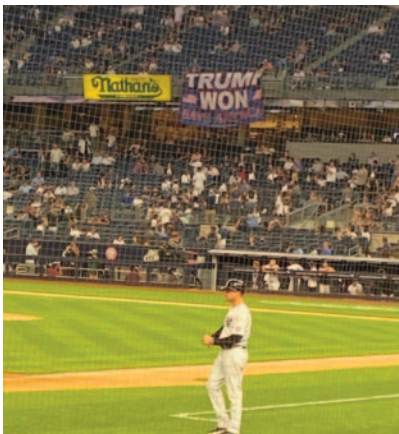

As Mel Gibson’s character in “Braveheart,” William Wallace, stated, “all men die, but not all men truly live.” Live life to the fullest . . . and move to the sound of the guns.

Steadfast and Loyal,

Florida Legislature Makes the Grade

By George Blumel

Florida is on the ascent in many ways. People are moving here in droves to escape political mismanagement in high-tax, Democrat-governed states. Florida is also being recognized for its balanced handling of the pandemic.

The governor gets a lot of credit for this, and he should. But another explanation of Florida’s success is its state legislature.

The Florida Legislature has been performing well since it was term-limited in 2000. As usual when a state limits terms the new blood has a positive effect on the state. For career politicians getting reelected is job #1. And that, more often than not, favors their lobbyists and party establishments but not always the citizens. Here are a few examples of good bills the 2021 Florida Legislative Session sent to Governor DeSantis for his signature.

- H0545 The “Parents’ Bill of Rights” marks a significant step towards returning control and oversight of children to parents. It directs schools to establish specific methods by which parents are to be informed of and to consent in writing to issues that would affect the education, health, or well-being of their child, etc.

- H0259 The “Safety of Religious institutions” Currently, people licensed to concealed carry are allowed to carry in churches and other religious institutions if those churches allow it, etc.

- S1028 “Fairness in Women’s Sports Act” bans men from participating in women’s sports. The standard for admission on the team as a woman requires that a person’s biological sex be confirmed by the sex listed on her birth certificate, etc.

- S7072 Prohibiting a social media platform from willfully deplatforming a candidate; providing requirements for public contracts and economic incentives related to entities that have been convicted or held civilly liable for antitrust violations, etc.

- H7074 Providing a public records exemption for information received by the Attorney General pursuant to an investigation by the Attorney General or a law enforcement agency into certain social media platform activities, etc.

- S0204 Proposing amendments to the State Constitution to abolish the Constitution Revision Commission, etc.

- H7017 Requiring any state agency or political subdivision to disclose certain gifts or grants received from any foreign source to the Department of Financial Services within a specified timeframe, etc.

- H1523 Prohibits theft of trade secrets; prohibits trafficking in trade secrets; reclassifies penalty and increases offense severity ranking for an offense committed with specified intent, etc.

- S9022 Authorizing the state and its political subdivisions to waive certain postsecondary educational requirements for employment for servicemembers and veterans who meet specified criteria, etc.

- H0435 Directs Florida Is For Veterans, Inc. to serve as state’s principal assistance organization under United States Department of Defense’s SkillBridge program, etc.

- H0271 Provides enhanced criminal penalties for willful making of false reports of crimes in certain circumstances; requires restitution.

Of course, the legislature is not a homogenous group. Some legislators are better—much better!—than others.

To assist in evaluating them Floridians have two useful tools, the Americans For Prosperity Legislative Scorecard \(2020\) and the Republican Liberty Caucus of Florida Legislative Scorecard \(2021\).

Both help keep track of how our reps are voting. The respective sites share their scoring methodology, bill descriptors and specific Senate and House votes. These are used to explain the letter grades given to all the members of the House and Senate.

Our Palm Beach County GOP House and Senate stars, according to AFP, are Reps. MaryLynn Magar, Mike Caruso, Rick Roth and Sen. Gayle Harrell.

Here’s the complete list with their AFP scores:

Senate Votes:

Gayle Harrell (R) Dist. 25 B
Lori Berman (D) Dist-31 C
Bobby Powell (D) Dist. 30 F
Kevin Rader (D) Dist. 29 B

My Favorite Sayings

By CS Bennett

For this edition, I am including several of my popular common sense sayings, freshly picked from my Garden of Wisdom, to share with you.
—CS Bennett

Liberals seemed more concerned about illegal alien children bundled up in a cold ICE cage that did not exist during the Trump era, but rather the Obama era, than they seemed about the innocent and vulnerable unborn child bundled up in its mother's womb. Think about that for a moment. . . .

The trap a relativist sometimes falls into is in believing that he, or she, is the center of the universe, and that all decisions made by them are only relevant to them, to the exclusion of all others. This is narcissism at its worst. Like a pebble dropped into still waters, the resulting ripples will always extend well beyond one's own universe. So, be mindful to send out positive waves, not negative ones. And be mindful to view the whole picture, not just your favorite part of it. . . .

Odd, that when we grounded our teenagers for two weeks, for disobeying our rules, which were in place for their own well-being, the response was often grumbling, rebellion, and verbal expressions of ire and discontentment, and nonstop questions of why? My, how times have changed. As wise young adults now, most of them appeared, without hesitation, to readily comply when government grounded them well over a year, for their own COVID well-being, of course, and there was no grumbling, no rebellion, no ire, no discontentment, and most of all, they did not question it one bit. Go figure. . . .

Unfortunately, the message of Blacks returning to their historical roots of love and devotion for God and Country, and a commitment to family, has been supplanted in our Democrat-controlled urban areas by a philosophy of government dependency, a profound distrust of God and Country, and a belief in something called social justice. This is a wilderness some of them may be forever lost in, if we lovers of freedom, and liberty do not make an attempt to clear a path for them out of this quagmire.

The Democrats are fleeing from their historical leaders, distancing themselves from their Confederate generals, and demolishing any statue paying homage to their Southern, but often racist, heritage. Soon, these same heroes will be stricken completely from the history books. Why? I believe Democrats want to distance themselves from their shameful and racist past, so that they can one day say, 'No, that wasn't our party, and certainly not our history. Okay! So, you disagree. Well, where is your proof, and where is it written that our party did those ungodly things.' That's what I think this is all about. . . .

The left, when denied their way, go out and loot, steal, and commit fraud. The right, when things do not go their way, look downward to kneel and upward to pray. Which is the greater power, and the greater good, I ask?

There is nothing more enlightening to the ear than to hear truth; nothing more profound to the mind than pure enlightenment. . . .

Never, never, trust the obvious. . . . Always remember that general consensus is never a replacement for empirical insight, especially those with an inquisitive mind in their quest for truth. . . .

The sum take away of the American experiment, and the American spirit, is fairly easy to explain. It can be viewed in the following scientific term: Societal DNA. At the core of the American people lies a fundamental desire, longing, and demand, for liberty and freedom of choice, and nothing less will do. . . . Yes, it's that simple, and sure-nuff worth dying for. . . .

Knowing that freedom of choice is at the core of most Americans' view on life and is the fundamental drive within their DNA, those who deem themselves self-appointed elites, and the elites elected into office under false pretense, cannot have this. So, they go about enacting restrictive regulatory policies, freedom-killing mandates, and harsh monetary penalties, to break our will, as well as to control us. . . . Nothing less will satisfy their lust for power and total control over others. . . . More insidious, there is no constitutional law they will not hesitate to break in achieving their goal. . . . Our side must draw a line in the sand. . . .

Compromising for self-serving purposes is distasteful and lacking in integrity and honesty. . . . My advice: fight for what you believe in like there's no tomorrow, and let that fight be a just cause. . . .

When wisdom and knowledge breeze by you, reach out and grab hold. Always take the opportunity to expand your knowledge base and grow in wisdom.

Experience shows that when you blindly give a stranger your trust, your loyalty, and your unbridled passion, without knowing the first thing about them or their motives, and you do it simply based on some loosely shared ethnic, cultural, racial, or sexual identity or cause, you have just exposed one of your major weaknesses, and one that men and women of dubious character will take advantage of. Don't think that the corrupted politicians you are so quick to place on a pedestal don't know this. . . .

We are, at times, contradictions of what we portray ourselves to be. . . . There lies the mystery in all humanity. . . .

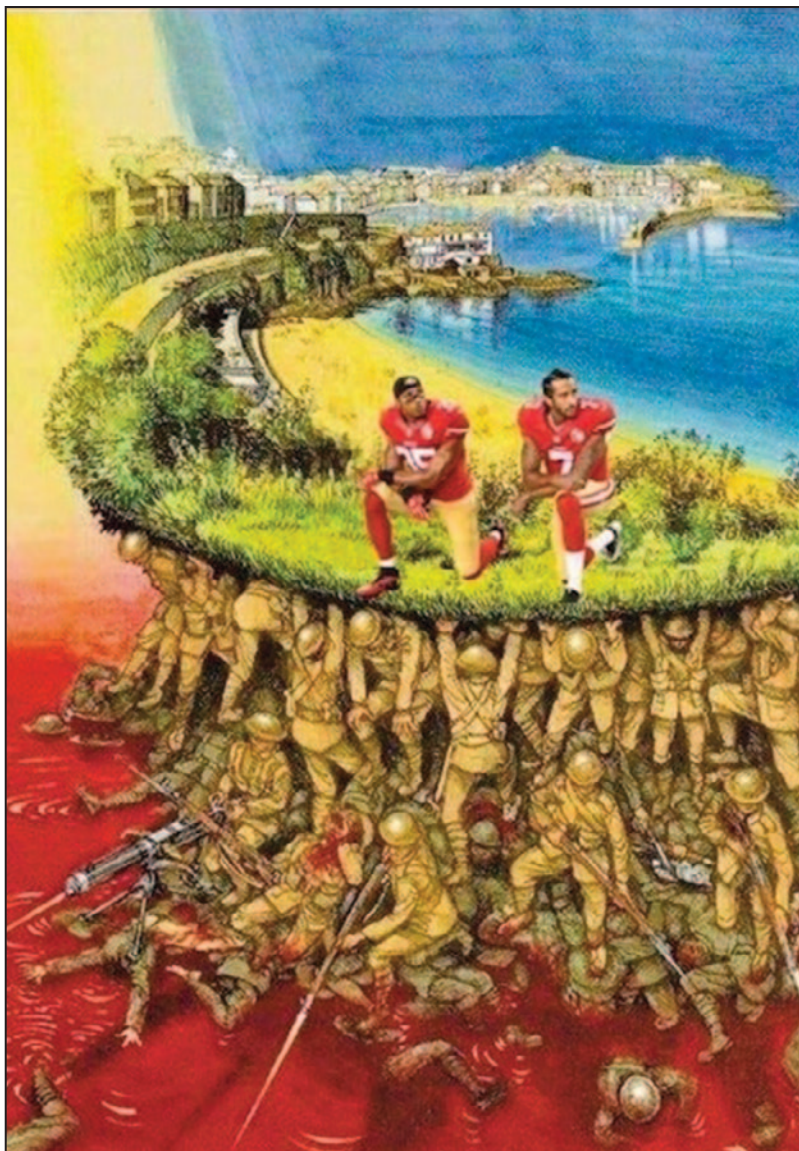

If lawmakers were all in agreement of doing what is in the best interest of the people, and for the survival of this republic, then we would not have to concern ourselves with reaching across the aisle. Now, would we. . . .

There is strength in numbers and a special magic and resolve in unity. It is something one cannot find going it alone.

When it comes to Covid-19, I would argue that the government, the CDC, and Dr. Fauci, who is heavily invested in keeping COVID-19 a priority issue, have made a commitment to this crisis that goes way beyond common sense and empirical scientific fact. . . .

D-Day—What Was It, What Is It?

By Colonel Arthur DeRuve (U.S. Army, Ret)

On 6th June, 1944 (affectionately known to the free world as D-Day), the Allies initiated the largest seaborne invasion in the history of warfare. Our objective was to dislodge the Nazi regime, which had invaded and overrun most of the continent of Europe. Participating were over 6,939 ships and landing vessels, thousands of aircraft, and an excess of one million military personnel.

This body was actually the spearhead for what became the reconquering force by Americans, Brits, Canadians, and other free-world-thinking individuals. More than that, it was the spearhead for reinstating freedom for those who had lost theirs in the previous five years. It was the bulwark for returning the concept of freedom which had been lost by so many in the recent years.

Some have referred to this action as a lead in restoring pure freedom all around the world. It was the beginning of the end for the evil doers. Everyone in our nation participated in one way or another, not only those in uniform. Everyone did his or her part: collecting lead, balling aluminum foil, collecting newspapers, etc. Hence, those who lived through it are often referred to as “The Greatest Generation.”

I would not go so far as to give it this name because those who opposed post-World War II European communism, the enemy at Chosun Reservoir, and in the rice patties of Vietnam were just as dedicated to their causes. Yes, there were those who fell back from opposing these evils (“you are all baby killers”), but they were the exceptions, and, unfortunately, given a free pass by the media, which in itself became evil by losing their sense of right from wrong.

Although D-Day is not a national holiday, it is a representation of the goodness and greatness of the United States of America. In fact, this was obvious to our enemies. When Pearl Harbor was bombed Japanese Admiral Yamamoto was wise enough to perceive that his country “had awakened a sleeping giant.”

The Admiral was proven correct with the storming of the beaches at Normandy through the surrender of the Axis on the battleship Missouri. What’s more, as any future potential villain may contemplate doing us any harm, it should be known our nation, looking forward, has unlimited heart and ammunition.

In answer to the title questions, D-Day was once again proof of the resilience of the United States of America, and a clear indication that it will continue for all time.

Col. Arthur DeRuve was commissioned a second lieutenant through the college ROTC program, and after serving with the 2nd Armored Division as a Cold War soldier in Germany, he remained an additional 28 years in the Army’s active reserve, including 11 years as a military liaison officer for West Point. He is a graduate of the Army’s Artillery and Guided Missile School, the Command and General Staff College, and the Army War College, and holds a bachelor’s degree in political science from Fordham University and a master’s degree in public administration from New York University. He and his wife Dorothy have been married more than 60 years, and after being “snowbirds” for many years, now reside in Wellington.

In Democrat/BLM America: Whites Not Welcome

By Gene Robinson

I was always taught growing up that . . . two wrongs do not make a right!

Obviously, there are those on the American Left who do not feel the same way, and I use as my prime example Lori Lightfoot, the mayor of Chicago, who did something so erroneous this past week that it set this country back to the Days of Segregation and Jim Crow. This top city official said publicly that she would only do “one on one interviews” with journalists of color. It just so happens that Lightfoot is black, and in this political climate of “wokeism and everything is racism,” she felt that she could get away with her statement . . . and she did. Now, if a white mayor of any major city in this country, or even a city smaller than Chicago, made the same statement as Lori Lightfoot . . . blacks and their followers would still be rioting, burning, and looting to let that white mayor know that the racism of the past will no longer be tolerated!

However, the Racism of the Past is being tolerated in the United States, but “the shoe is on the other foot.” At one point in this country’s past when black citizens were discriminated against, those black citizens rose up and struck out against the barriers that had kept them back since the end of slavery, and the beginning of segregation. During that turbulent time of riots in the 1960’s and 1970’s, someone asked, “Once blacks get the Rights that the Constitution says all of us are due, and if they ever begin to feel a sense of power, would they then begin to turn on their former white oppressors, and practice their own form of discrimination?” The answer to that question was always a collective “No” from blacks, because they said collectively that . . . “We are a forgiving people.”

To that I say . . . BULLSHIT! Why? Because forgiving or not, Lori Lightfoot has opened a “can of worms” that will not stop with her and Chicago. In this copycat world, since many have seen what Lightfoot did without receiving any real consequences in this the New Democrat-Controlled America, and after she even received some praise from many other blacks for her action . . . get ready, as the days of open and straightforward black racism are upon us!

But, in this Democrat/BLM America, where some whites are not welcome as Lightfoot has publicly professed, there could readily be some major Pushback of Consequence that may lead this country into a “quagmire” of a situation that most level-headed persons hoped would never occur in this beautiful country. So, let’s look at several areas of Pushback that could occur:

THE FIRST WARNING SIGN to look out for is similar to this analogy. When an animal is pushed into a corner with no escape route, even the most gentle animal will bare its teeth and “fight and claw” to escape its impending circumstance of doom. Many whites who have done nothing to bring about the current situation in this country are like gentle animals, until pushed into a corner with no escape route. Then, we have what occurred on January 6th in the Nation’s Capitol!

THE SECOND WARNING SIGN to look out for are historically “meek and mild” American citizens like Marjory Taylor Greene and Mark McCloskey, who take off the gloves and come out fighting in a political arena that they had no previous experience in. Greene ran, and won overwhelmingly in a Georgia U.S. congressional district, then came to Washington and spoke with brazen and open contempt for the “old rules” of the D.C. swamp that made no sense to her. The Establishment fought back and removed her from her original committee assignments, to which she said, “Good, now I have time to do what the people from Georgia sent me here to do.”

And, perhaps you will remember Mark McCloskey, who along with his wife, brandished an AR-15 assault rifle and a handgun respectively, to defend their St. Louis suburban home against an angry BLM mob that broke through the barrier of their gated community during the 2020 summer riot season that just passed. McCloskey has thrown his hat into the ring to run for a U.S. Senate seat from Missouri in 2022. His campaign theme is “Never Back Down,” and others will follow suit, running for political office throughout the country!

THE THIRD WARNING SIGN to look out for will occur, if the Over-Reaching Left Establishment Lawmakers, the Devilish and Deceitful Democrat Party, the Out of Control Big Tech Censors, and their Partners in Crime in the Mainstream Media continue to create and control a narrative in trying to change America from a founded Republic Democracy into a Socialistic country, with Communistic leanings. If the current “powers that be” continue on the path that they have created so far . . . there will be an explosion from those American citizens no longer welcome in this country, and January 6th will look like a “walk in the park” by comparison!

America . . . YOU HAVE BEEN WARNED!!
GOD Bless.

Money Laundering

By Stephen Weiland
April 27, 2021

If you are a fan of cable TV crime shows you should know all about “Money Laundering.” In simplest terms, a criminal enterprise extorts money from a legal enterprise, hides this now dirty money in a stash hidden from public view, launders it and then invests this now clean and untraceable money in a legitimate, profit making opportunity.

Consider the protection racket. A criminal enterprise offers “protection” to a small business. The “protection” service will prevent unnamed people from harming your business or property—an obvious benefit. A monthly fee guarantees this protection as collected by a feared and powerful individual. If you don’t pay the fee, protection vanishes and your business will suffer the consequences. The fee, which is now dirty and unreported money, goes into the criminal bank—a hidden stash unavailable for examination and taxing. But now how to make use of this dirty money? It must emerge laundered and clean from the criminal bank and used to invest in a legitimate profit-making business opportunity. Interestingly enough, this new opportunity, this new business, is now available to buy “protection” from the criminal enterprise. Not bad. The criminal enterprise extorts you on both ends of the scheme.

Does money laundering occur outside of a criminal enterprise? I suggest that it does. I suggest that it occurs day in and day out by our federal government in plain view and without challenge. Let’s compare government money laundering to the “protection” racket described above. In this analogy our federal government is the criminal enterprise. The government does supply some legitimate services. Without some of these obvious services—defense, infrastructure, legal and criminal systems—our enterprises, both individual and business, would suffer. We pay the fee in taxes. The “protection” fee collector is the IRS. If we don’t pay the fee we are subject to severe penalties by the Tax Court, which exists outside of our criminal and civil legal systems. Pay or be punished. But what if these government services, paid for by our tax fees, include services far outside the scope of required services? What if these “services” include abortion, excessive welfare payments, Green New Deal subsidies, wealth redistribution taxes, and taxes which will damage my individual or business enterprises? I have no recourse. Just like the goon who demands “protection fees” I must pay my taxes or be punished. So pay I do.

I suggest in this analogy that some of the money I pay in taxes is “dirty” money. Some “services” it buys me are not wanted, are not needed and violate my religious and ideological beliefs. The fees are collected and moved to the government bank—the U.S. Treasury. The fees are now fungible. They are intermixed and become indistinguishable from any and all other inputs. Sources are lost and intended uses lose any connection to sources. It is being laundered. But what about using this laundered money to support the government enterprise? Where is the return on these fees? How does the government enterprise profit from these collections?

A large portion of the laundered money is used to support legitimate services as mentioned above—defense, infrastructure, legal and criminal systems. But an equally large portion is used to buy votes. This is the investment that is funded by the once “dirty” portion of the fees. Money talks, and it speaks loudest in government circles. If the money is used to fund excessive welfare payments, amnesty and open border efforts, socialist freebies, education and housing subsidies, favorite “pork” projects, failing city and state economies, and the various narrow goals of Identity Politics groups, then that money is saying “Here I am. I support you. Now you vote for me.”

This is money laundering on a gigantic scale. Pay the protection fee or go to IRS jail. Don’t bother to trace your fee: you can’t because I have laundered it. I will use it to buy votes and keep me and my party in power. And know this, Dummy: it’s all legal.

A Reflection on the Current Mid-East War

By Alan Bergstein

President, Judeo/Christian Republican Club

This current Middle East war, fomented by Hamas and their Palestinian Authority brothers in their efforts to destroy Israel, is like none before it. This time there is a great possibility that The Jewish State may be in more danger than ever from its bloodthirsty enemies. Consider Israel's geography. To the west, there is Hamas blasting all of Israel with their errant but still dangerous rockets. In the north, Iranian-backed Hezbollah, together with actual Iranian forces are prepared to strike with tens of thousands of missiles. In the east there is the weak-kneed but ever dangerous Jordan with 70% of its population of Palestinian origin fueled by hate, ready to unleash their own brand of violence and chaos. Also to the east there are the Palestinian (PLO) controlled territories whose inhabitants have harassed Israel for years and are ready for an onslaught to retake all lands, in their words, "From the river to the sea." And right smack, dab within the boundaries of Israel itself, are nearly 2 million Israeli-Muslim citizens who are already rioting, disrupting and weakening their own country with a well planned internal revolution to destroy the land that gave them comfort, freedom and security. The foolishness, in prior years of patting them on the head for being proud, loyal citizens of Israel, the nation that has graciously given them the opportunities to enjoy life, that no Muslim in a sharia ruled country enjoys, has now been outed as another bit of dangerous foolishness in the game of appeasing our obvious enemies.

Add up these multiple threats and there's the likely possibility that Israel may soon be fighting simultaneously on five fronts for its survival. With a population of only about 7 million Jews, not all of military age, including the elderly, very young and some physically handicapped, the nation has a limited number of able bodied, trained warriors to stave off attacks on all fronts. Remember, troops cannot remain on the battle lines for too long. Fatigue sets in. Replacements must be ready to give rest to those stressed in battle. Citizens who would take up arms would have to leave their workplaces shutting down much of the economy and creating a perfect situation for internal rioting, looting and criminal activities that would threaten the safety and security of the Jewish civilian population. Israeli-Arab rioters could disrupt military convoys and all movement of supplies on vital roadways. Throw into the pot the threat of munition factories being shut down by civil unrest creating re-supply difficulties. All of Israel would be a war zone. And think of the effect the destruction of the Al-Aqsa mosque in Jerusalem by an errant Hamas missile would have on the Muslim world? Who'd be blamed? The consequences?

If you've noticed, American Jewry is not too supportive of Israel. Many of our people have committed to "Woke-ness" and are enthralled with the Progressive movement which together with the radical Black Lives Matter racists openly are supportive of the Palestinian goal of destroying Israel. It's our opinion that fake "Jewish" groups such as T'ruah, J-Street, Jewish Voice for Peace, Bend the Arc, Americans for Peace Now and a host of other Progressive led agencies endanger Jews and Israel with their constant condemnations of Israel being an "apartheid state" that denies the Palestinians their freedoms. How many rabbis support these groups and their views? We're tired of hearing the "Two State Solution" touted as a remedy to end 75 years of the victimization and bloodshed of Jews. Even the once formidable Anti-Defamation League, once a staunch defender of Jews and Israel, under its longtime leader, Abe Foxman, now led by former Soros and Obama bigwig, Jonathan Greenblatt, has seen fit to only support Israel's right to self defense. In his May 14th proclamation on the attacks on Israel, he never once mentioned Hamas, Iran or the Palestinian Authority by name, as the terrorist culprits. Rather, he touted his group's mysterious "Social Cohesion Summit" as a means to bring the warring parties together. Sounds like another great sounding but useless social justice program to tame the primitive savages of Hamas and the PLO. Won't work!

Lastly, full responsibility for the latest upsurge in Arab initiated violence goes to President Joe Biden for his policies of appeasement and capitulation in the Middle East. When he took residence in the White House, there was nothing but roots of optimism sprouting from that war torn area. President Trump's worthy of Nobel Peace Prize creation, The Abraham Accords, were a glowing example of brilliant diplomacy that promised eventual peace in that region. The inept Biden administration rushed to renew $350 million annual foreign aid to UNRWA that Trump had canceled. That corrupt UN agency utilizes textbooks to teach Palestinian schoolkids jihad, Jew hating and permits Hamas to use its schools and playgrounds as missile launching sites for its attacks on Israel. And in April, barely being in office two months, Biden authorized $235 million to the Palestinian Authority and to Hamas, who runs Gaza, for projects to be determined by the terrorist recipients. We'd guess this American taxpaying gift went to purchase terror tunnel building ingredients, Iranian rockets, arms and other weaponry now being unleashed against the civilian population of Israel. These Biden moves signaled to the Islamist terrorists that Trump's "stand firm with Israel" policies were dead in the water. The White House Press Secretary, Jen Psaki, said it all when she blurted out the administration's viewpoint regarding the crisis, "We also stand

Shame on the School Board

By Michael Martino

The Palm Beach County School Board approved new Mission, Vision, and Equity statements for The School District of Palm Beach County. I would strongly encourage all parents of K-12 grade level students enrolled in public and charter schools in Palm Beach County to read these statements below, carefully, to draw your own conclusions. It is too important, for you as a parent, not to.

The School District of Palm Beach County needs a mission and a vision that brings students and parents closer to each other and not statements that push them away from each other. This new mission and vision advocates “. . . to educate, affirm, and inspire each student. . .” instead of all students. It promotes equity over equality. Both equity and equality promote fairness but they are difficult to interchange. Equity distributes resources based on need while equality allocates the resources to everyone in an equivalent manner. A significant portion of the new statements are devoted to social discourse and are racially charged with little association to student inspiration or educational excellence. In a May 4th Palm Beach Post article a School Board member suggests that the new pronouncements by the School Board, among other things, were influenced by “last year’s protests about racial justice. . . .” It is my belief that policy based on emotion is bad policy.

In my opinion, a substantial portion of the new Mission Statement and Vision Statement is shameful. The words are not helpful nor are they hopeful, rather they are harmful and are hurtful. The chosen language in some cases is antagonizing, accusatory, and divisive. Phraseology, such as, “historically marginalized groups,” “centuries of systemic oppression,” “dismantling structures rooted in white advantage,” “and redistributing resources,” respectfully, do little to eliminate bias or discrimination, and this provocative approach does not inspire excellence in education nor parental support. Language of conciliation rather than confrontation is always a better choice.

If this is the best Mission and the best Vision our elected School Board can offer for the 197,000 students in their charge, than we in Palm Beach County, and more particularly parents, have a serious problem. The real dangers of these new declarations are the curriculums and books they will generate. Will the teachings be based on the traditional American educational classroom basics of reading, writing, and arithmetic, if you will permit me, the 3 R’s? Or will the classroom teachings be nuanced in the direction of the questionable and unproven, critical race theory, the 1619 project, cancel culture, and other abstract thought. I ask, are our teachers’ to be educators or social workers?

Palm Beach County is not a racist County. It is home to a diverse population with residents of various skin colors, backgrounds, and beliefs. That is a quality that should be celebrated. It should not be tarnished by the School Board through new divisive Mission, Vision, and Equity statements. Our school system is a “home away from home” for all our children. It should be an environment where skin color is of no consequence for the opportunities to secure a fundamentally sound education. Discrimination is still discrimination irrespective of disguise. The masks of discrimination are best removed by expanding opportunity, choices, and equality for all and not a just a select group based on the color of their skin.

From my perspective, The School District of Palm Beach County’s new Mission, Vision, and Equity policy statements are an emotional reaction to “last year’s protests about racial justice. . . .” The statements are confrontational. They embrace theories and abstract concepts outside the bounds of acceptability for educational excellence and opportunities for all students. They should be discarded and replaced. I would encourage all who have concerns with the statements below to contact their School Board representative.

Here is a link to the statements below and contact information for all School Board members here.

The School District of Palm Beach County

Mission

The mission of the School District of Palm Beach County is to educate, affirm, and inspire each student in an equity-embedded school system.

Vision

We envision . . .

The School District of Palm Beach County is an educational and working environment, where both students and staff are unimpeded by bias or discrimination. Individuals of all backgrounds and experiences are embraced, affirmed, and inspired. Each and every one will succeed and flourish.

The School District of Palm Beach County will take ownership for students’ academic mastery, emotional intelligence, and social-emotional needs by creating environments where students, families, staff, and communities will develop agency and voice.

A joy of learning is fostered in each student and a positive vision for their future is nurtured. Each student’s cultural heritage is valued and their physical, emotional, academic, and social needs are met.

WE SEE YOU . . .

Equity Definition

Equity means each student—regardless of race, ethnicity, poverty, disability, language status, undocumented status, religious affiliation, gender identity, and sexual orientation—will have access to the opportunities, resources, and support they need to imagine, nurture, and achieve their dreams.

Equity Statement

The School District of Palm Beach County is committed to dismantling racism and other systems of oppression and inequity. We will create equitable and inclusive schools that ensure students have what they need to be successful in school and life.

Achieving racial equity requires proactive and continuous investment in historically marginalized groups who have endured centuries of systemic oppression. The School District of Palm Beach County is committed to dismantling structures rooted in white advantage and transforming our system by hearing and elevating under-represented voices, sharing power, recognizing and eliminating bias, and redistributing resources to provide equitable outcomes.

The School District of Palm Beach County will take ownership for students’ academic mastery, emotional intelligence, and social-emotional needs by creating environments where students, families, staff, and communities will develop agency and voice.

The School District of Palm Beach County acknowledges the existence of—and will eliminate—systems, processes, and mindsets that perpetuate race, ethnicity, poverty, disability, language status, undocumented status, religious affiliation, gender identity, and sexual orientation as predictors of achievement.

The School District of Palm Beach County will embrace, celebrate, and honor our students, families, staff, and community members and their unique cultural histories, while ensuring each student achieves personal and academic success.

Critical Race Theory Banned in Florida

JUNE 10—At the urging of Governor DeSantis, the State Board of Education today voted to maintain the integrity of Florida’s academic standards by keeping Critical Race Theory out of the classroom.

“The woke class wants to teach kids to hate each other, rather than teaching them how to read, but we will not let them bring nonsense ideology into Florida’s schools,” Governor DeSantis said.

“Florida’s public education system exists to create opportunity for our children by teaching them how to think, not what to think. Critical Race Theory teaches kids what to think, and that is to hate our country and to hate each other. It is state-sanctioned racism and has no place in Florida schools.

“I love this state, and I love my country. I find it unthinkable that there are other people in positions of leadership in the federal government who believe that we should teach kids to hate our country,” Governor DeSantis said. “We will not stand for it here in Florida. I’m proud that we are taking action today to ensure our state continues to have the greatest educational system in the nation.”

against extremism that has inflicted violence on both communities.” Just what “extremism” has emanated from Israel? Again, we see how Israel’s defense of its citizens and territory is equated with the terrorism of Muslim thugs.

There are many components that went into the decisions on the part of Hamas and the Palestinian Authority to launch these current terrorist attacks on Israel. There is no doubt that the departure of Trump, the most pro-Israel president ever, replaced by an evidently mentally unfocused, bumbling Biden, did the trick. We’ll be watching the effects on the president by the fury of the likes of Ilhan Omar, Rashida Tlaib, AOC, Bernie Sanders and the rest of the outspoken Jew/Israel haters of his party on his decision making. Would that the likes of Schumer, Feinstein, Nadler, Schultz, Frankel and the rest of the chickenhearted Jewish crowd in Congress would have the same fierce beliefs in their love for Israel as the aforementioned have for their hatred for the Jewish State. But, we pray for miracles.

“The big question for our government and for all the governments around the world is, are we going to do everything possible to demand the kind of accountability from China, and frankly from ourselves, but most significantly from China, to get to the bottom of how this terrible pandemic began. From day one China has been involved in a massive cover-up of destroying samples, hiding records, imprisoning citizen journalists who are asking tough questions and has established a universal gag order preventing Chinese scientists from saying or writing anything publicly without government approval. Millions of people are dead as a result of this cover-up. It’s got to end and I think that our government and governments around the world need to demand a very significant change.”

“The reason why China is trying to cover-up the Corona virus origin is if it turned out that the origin of the pandemic stems from an accidental lab leak followed by a criminal cover-up, the implications for China nationally and globally would be massive. We can even imagine Xi Shao Ping being overthrown, people all around the world demanding reparations from China and that is why the Chinese government will stop at nothing in its ongoing effort to cover this up and that is why we should all be united as Americans, as humans, to understand how this pandemic began so we can address our greatest vulnerabilities.”

An illegal immigrant in Polk County, Florida, who got pulled over in a routine traffic stop, ended up killing the deputy who stopped him. The deputy was shot eight times, including once behind his right ear at close range. Another deputy was wounded and a police dog killed.

A statewide manhunt ensued. The murderer was found hiding in a wooded area, and as soon as he took a shot at the SWAT team, officers opened fire on him. They hit the guy 68 times. Naturally, the liberal media went nuts and asked why they had to shoot the poor undocumented immigrant 68 times.

Republican Club of the Palm Beaches Representative Rick Roth on a Most Amazing Legislative Session

By Fred Scheibl
May 26, 2021

This year's legislative session in Tallahassee should make us all proud. As the Biden Administration and their Progressive minions in Congress go about their business of compromising election integrity, mismanaging the pandemic, socializing the economy, promoting Marxist ideology in the schools, and encouraging the muzzling of conservative expression in social media, the state of Florida has said "Stop! Enough!" Many of the bills that were passed and signed into law directly counter the Progressive agenda in DC.

District 85 Representative Rick Roth was in the thick of it this year, and came to the RCPB this week to highlight what a Republican Legislature and great Governor can do when the times demand it. In his written end of session report, he covers the just-passed $102B budget, sweetened with federal stimulus funds, and then lists fully 28 bills that he considers key. (Click here for a copy of the report.)

It should be noted that those bills that are counter to the Biden agenda and opposed by the national media (election reform, anti-riot act, anti-lockdowns, social media, school choice, women's sports, free speech in the schools) were passed strictly along party lines.

Among the highlights:

- In the area of Covid-19 response, they passed civil liability protection for businesses and other entities (HB-7005), augmented the emergency preparedness fund (HB-1595), and set limits for emergency management response by local governments such as lockdowns and vaccine passports (HB-7047).
- To protect our communities, they passed the "Combating Public Disorder Act" (also known as the anti-riot act HB-1), set out best practices for law enforcement (HB-7051), solidified election integrity (SB-1), and put serious penalties on social media companies for arbitrary censorship and de-platforming of Floridians (HB-7013).

- For our education systems, we now have expanded school choice (HB-7045), protection of women's sports (HB-51), a defense of free speech (HB-233), and a "Parent's Bill of Rights" over how their children are taught and treated in the schools (HB-241).
- For the environment, they established a grant program for local communities to deal with sea level rise and other resilience (HB-7019), partially funded by the Documentary Stamp Tax (HB-5401), and strengthens the protection for farmers against nuisance lawsuits (HB-1601).
- For home rule, there will be an amendment on the ballot to abolish the Constitutional Revision Commission (HJR-1179), limit local interference in port operations (SB-1194) or the use and sale of fuel types (HB-839 and 919).
- Regarding insurance, they abolished "no-fault" car insurance (HB-719), and adjusted Citizen's coverage versus private insurance and their ability to adjust rates (HB-305).

Representative Roth is not a stranger to his constituents—he is a regular at the REC, clubs like this one, city councils in the North County, and business and civic groups. He is also frequently out on the street with us at Trump flag-waving and other showings of support. Even given that, he says he is not seen "in the newspapers" much, as he gets more done working behind the scenes with the Speaker and other legislative leaders. He also is active seeking input for legislation, and spent time with SOE Wendy Link to get her input on the elections bill.

Also at the meeting, we welcomed new President Kim Davis and bid farewell to past president Fran Hancock, who received flowers and kudos from club Secretary Bette Anne Starkey. Fran will be moving north soon, and leaves behind a significant legacy of Republican leadership in the state and county of close to 50 years.

Kudos to our new venue the Palm Beach Kennel Club, for hosting a great meeting in an attractive setting with a delicious buffet lunch.

Our next meeting will be Tuesday, July 27th. Save the date!

Hidden History

God at Pearl Harbor

John Guy writes: What God did at Pearl Harbor that day is interesting, and I never knew this little bit of history.

Tour boats ferry people out to the USS Arizona Memorial in Hawaii every thirty minutes. We just missed a ferry and had to wait thirty minutes. I went into a small gift shop to kill time. In the gift shop, I purchased a small book entitled, Reflections on Pearl Harbor by Admiral Chester Nimitz.

Sunday, December 7th, 1941—Admiral Chester Nimitz was attending a concert in Washington, DC. He was paged and told there was a phone call for him. When he answered the phone, it was President Franklin Delano Roosevelt on the phone. He told Admiral Nimitz that he (Nimitz) would now be the Commander of the Pacific Fleet.

Admiral Nimitz flew to Hawaii to assume command of the Pacific Fleet. He landed at Pearl Harbor on Christmas Eve, 1941. There was such a spirit of despair, dejection and defeat—you would have thought the Japanese had already won the war.

On Christmas Day, 1941, Adm. Nimitz was given a boat tour of the destruction wrought on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese. Big sunken battleships and navy vessels cluttered the waters everywhere you looked. As the tour boat returned to dock, the young helmsman of the boat asked, “Well, Admiral, what do you think after seeing all this destruction?”

Admiral Nimitz’s reply shocked everyone within the sound of his voice. Admiral Nimitz said, “The Japanese made three of the biggest mistakes an attack force could ever make, or God was taking care of America. Which do you think it was?”

Shocked and surprised, the young helmsman asked, “What do mean by saying the Japanese made the three biggest mistakes an attack force ever made?”

Nimitz explained:

Mistake number one: The Japanese attacked on Sunday morning. Nine out of every ten crewmen of those ships were ashore on leave. If those same ships had been lured to sea and been sunk—we would have lost 38,000 men instead of 3,800.

Mistake number two: When the Japanese saw all those battleships lined in a row, they got so carried away sinking those battleships, they never once bombed our dry docks opposite those ships. If they had destroyed our dry docks, we would have had to tow every one of those ships to America to be repaired. As it is now, the ships are in shallow water and can be raised. One tug can pull them over to the dry docks, and we can have them repaired and at sea by the time we could have towed them to America. And I already have crews ashore anxious to man those ships.

Mistake number three: Every drop of fuel in the Pacific theater of war is on top of the ground storage tanks five miles away over that hill. One attack plane could have strafed those tanks and destroyed our fuel supply.

That’s why I say the Japanese made three of the biggest mistakes an attack force could make or, God was taking care of America.

I’ve never forgotten what I read in that little book. It is still an inspiration as I reflect upon it. In jest, I might suggest that because Admiral Nimitz was a Texan, born and raised in Fredericksburg, Texas—he was a born optimist.

But any way you look at it—Admiral Nimitz was able to see a silver lining in a situation and circumstance where everyone else saw only despair and defeatism.

President Roosevelt had chosen the right man for the right job. We desperately needed a leader that could see silver lining in the midst of the clouds of dejection, despair and defeat.

There is a reason that our national motto is, IN GOD WE TRUST.

Why have we forgotten? PRAY FOR OUR COUNTRY! IN GOD WE TRUST.

Moving to Mexico

Dear Mr. President Biden:

I'm planning to move to Mexico for my health, and I would like to ask you to assist me.

I'm planning to simply walk across the border from the U.S. into Mexico, and I'll need your help to make a few arrangements.

I plan to skip all the legal stuff like visas, passports, immigration quotas, and laws. I'm sure they handle those things the same way you do here. So, would you mind telling your buddy, the Mexican President, that I'm on my way down? Please let him know that I will be expecting the following:

1. Free medical care.
2. English-speaking government bureaucrats for all services I might need, whether I use them or not.
3. Please print all Mexican government forms in English.
4. I want my grandkids to be taught Spanish by English-speaking (bi-lingual) teachers.
5. Tell their schools they need to include classes on American culture and history.
6. I want my grandkids to see the American flag on one of the flag poles at their school.
7. Please plan to feed my grandkids at school for both breakfast and lunch.
8. I will need a local Mexican driver's license so I can get easy access to government services and be able to vote.
9. I do plan to get a car and drive in Mexico, but I don't plan to purchase car insurance, and I probably won't make any special effort to learn local traffic laws.
10. In case one of the Mexican police officers does not get the memo from their president to leave me alone, please be sure that every patrol car has at least one English-speaking officer.
11. I plan to fly the U.S. flag from my house top, put U.S. flag decals on my car, and have a gigantic celebration on July 4th. I do not want any complaints or negative comments from the locals.
12. I would also like to have a nice job without paying any taxes, or have any labor or tax laws enforced on any business I may start.
13. Please have the president tell all the Mexican people to be extremely nice and never say a critical thing about me or my family, or about the strain we might place on their economy.
14. I want to receive free food stamps.
15. Naturally, I'll expect free rent subsidies.
16. I'll need income tax credits, so although I don't pay Mexican taxes, I'll receive money from the government.
17. Please arrange it so that the Mexican government pays $4,500 to help me buy a new car.
18. Oh yes, I almost forgot, please enroll me free into the Mexican Social Security program so that I'll get a monthly income in retirement.

I know this is an easy request because we already do all these things for all his people who come to the U.S. from Mexico.

I am sure that the Mexican President won't mind returning the favor if you ask him nicely. Thank you so much for your kind help. Yo Joe, You Da Man!!

A Note to My Sane Friends and Family: Critical Things to Think about in 2021 If You Still Think You Are an American!

I never dreamed that I would have to face the prospect of not living in the United States of America, at least not the one I have known all my life. I have never wished to live anywhere else. This is my home and I was privileged to be born here. But today I woke up and as I had my morning coffee, I realized that everything is changing for the worse. No matter how I vote, no matter what I say, no matter how much I pray, something evil has invaded our nation, and our lives are never going to be the same. I have been confused by the hostility of family and friends. I look at people I have known all my life; so hate-filled that they agree with opinions they would never express as their own. I think that I may well have entered the Twilight Zone. We have become a nation that has lost its collective mind!

You can't justify this insanity:

- If a guy pretends to be a woman, you are required to pretend with him.
- Somehow it's Un-American for the census to count how many Americans are in America.
- Russians influencing our elections are bad, but illegals voting in our elections are good.
- It was cool for Joe Biden to "blackmail" the President of Ukraine, but was an impeachable offense if Donald Trump inquired about it.
- Twenty is too young to drink a beer, but eighteen is old enough to vote.
- People who have never owned slaves should pay slavery reparations to people who have never been slaves.
- People who have never been to college should pay the debts of college students who took out huge loans for their degrees.
- Immigrants with tuberculosis and polio are welcome, but you'd better be able to prove your dog is vaccinated.
- Irish doctors and German engineers who want to immigrate to the U.S. must go through a rigorous vetting process, but any illiterate gang member or terrorist who jumps the southern fence is welcome.

And the so-called “President” has just demanded the Border Patrol STOP referring to said gang-banging terrorists as “Illegal aliens”??? Whiskey, Tango, Foxtrot!!!!

- $5 billion for border security is too expensive, but $1.5 trillion for “free” health care is not.
- If you cheat to get into college you go to prison, but if you cheat to get into the country you go to college for free.
- People who say there is no such thing as gender are demanding a female President.
- We see other countries going Socialist and collapsing, but it seems like a great plan for us.
- Some people are held responsible for things that happened before they were born, and other people are not held responsible for what they are doing right now.
- Criminals are caught and released to hurt more people but stopping them is bad because it’s a violation of THEIR rights.
- And pointing out all this hypocrisy somehow makes us “racists”?!

Nothing makes sense anymore—no values, no morals, and no civility. People are dying of a Chinese virus, but it’s racist to refer to it as Chinese even though it began in China. We are clearly living in an upside-down world where right is wrong and wrong is right, where moral is immoral and immoral is moral, where good is evil and evil is good, where killing murderers is wrong but killing unborn babies is okay!

Wake up America, the great unsinkable ship Titanic America has hit an iceberg, it’s taking on water, and is sinking fast. We Americans are drowning. Speak up while you still have breath and a voice for soon you will have neither if you don’t!

White Privilege for Sale

WOW. I never thought of it this way. I was NEVER given any special treatment because I was white, poor and a Southerner. I worked all my life. I worked and saved, paid taxes, and never borrowed money for my college education. Biden now wants to forgive all the student loans. That is all about votes.

Now, so it seems, there are several generations living off the taxpayers back. . . . Free education, food, housing, medical, and free money. Socialism is taking the country to the brink of collapse. Now . . . “Why should I work when I get $600 a week from the government? It is more than I was making working.” Sooner or if not later, the Democrats will realize too late that over-taxing the rich and corporations will lead to the flight of the rich and corporations to go offshore.

Biden’s agenda is guaranteeing the Democrat Party future votes by the having indentured servants to vote the Democrat ticket. Why? Payback and the outlook for more freebies.

Does my heart cry for Argentina? No, my heart cries for America, for our path is paralleled to Argentina. How can a country survive with a debt of $30+ trillion? And Biden wants to keep adding to the debt and increasing taxes. Are we as a nation gone crazy?!

Thanks Where Due

By all accounts the Covid pandemic is just about over. I want to take this opportunity to thank President Donald Trump, who was instrumental in this defeat of the Covid monster. He was the first to recognize the threat back in February, 2020. He cancelled all incoming flights from China and was called a xenophobe. He appointed the best person available at the time, Dr. Fauci, to head up the advisory team. He organized industry and the military to supply much needed ventilators, masks, protective clothing and hospital beds—particularly to New York. He gave appropriate control to the states instead of using “one size fits all” federal mandates. He continually struck a balance between the crippling effect of lockdowns and the need to preserve the economy and social well being of our businesses and citizens. He organized Warp Speed which resulted in the authorization and preparation of 800 million vaccine doses across three pharmaceutical companies—and this in nine months, which many called a modern miracle. He organized the military and private organizations to deliver and then administer vaccines when ready. On the day President Biden took office, January 20, 2021, many millions of people had already been injected with their first vaccine dose—including Joe Biden. I must note that President Biden did follow through on the plans, preparations, and effort that President Trump put in place. But now is the time to give President Trump heartfelt thanks for his magnificent job in killing this Covid monster. Thank you, President Trump.

Mainstream Media Beating a Dead Horse Over January 6

It looks like you [the mainstream media] can’t get Donald Trump out of your head as you keep beating a dead horse over the riot of Jan. 6. No one I know thought what the people did on January 6 was acceptable behavior, but why are you carrying on about this event while ignoring the “insurrections” by ANTIFA and BLM over the past year? If you condemn one why don’t you condemn all violent uprisings? Could it be that you just want to stick it to Donald Trump, the evil one in your eyes? You never mention that the violence at the Capitol was mainly done by professional agitators on both the left and right. No one was killed except an unarmed woman protester by the Capitol police. This event is now being used by the Democrats, and the press like the Sun Sentinel, in trying to portray all Trump supporters as violent insurrectionists, hopefully to be used in the 2022 off-year elections to benefit the Democrats. As the old saying goes, “You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can’t fool all of the people all the time.” Why don’t you come out and admit that you are shilling for the Democrats, and that no Republican, Trump, DeSantis etc., will get a fair shake in your newspaper?

Looks Like China is Momma to the Corona Virus

Now, after over one year of dealing with the deadly Chinese Virus, the world is demanding to find the actual source of this disease—where it came from and if it was naturally occurring or man-made. Last Wednesday, President Biden dramatically ordered U.S intelligence to seek out answers as to the origins of Covid-19. However, there is evidence that he shut down a State Department investigative unit that was already deep into the study of the outbreak of the disease. What in the world is going on here? Why a new group of sleuths to replicate what was already in the works? With no answers being given by the White House, we’re suspiciously concerned that these newly anointed individuals, whose sole purpose is to protect the health and safety of our citizens, might themselves be infected with a political virus that will disable their desire to seek out the truth. There are deepening suspicions that their loyalty is not to the nation’s well being but to their real master . . . politics.

A little over a year ago, at the onset of the pandemic, Dr. Anthony Fauci, the self-appointed “America’s doctor,” vigorously denounced theories, repeated by then President Trump, who is courageously no friend to China, that the novel coronavirus might have escaped from China’s military-controlled Wuhan Institute of Virology. That government-controlled lab outrageously claimed that their science showed the virus was “totally consistent with a jump of a species from an animal to a human.” Nonsense! But most journalists and even the World Health Organization (WHO) frantically jumped in to support Fauci. Then substantiated stories began popping up that Fauci and the WHO were closely tied, financially, to China and the lab. The all-knowing doctor was forced to backtrack this week when it was disclosed that three workers at the Wuhan lab became sick and were hospitalized in November 2019, not long before the first reported cases of Covid. This info was purposely and criminally kept under wraps. It’s inconceivable that this information was not known to the leaders of the World Health Organization and Dr. Fauci. Had China reported these illnesses to the world at the time they occurred, it’s likely that millions of lives could have been saved and the world would not have been crippled and turned on its head by this virus. We repeat the word, “criminal!”

We’re concerned that the new investigatory commission appointed by Biden to research this problem will be a cover-up for the anti-Trump forces that used this virus as a major political campaign issue to denounce Trump’s handling of the pandemic and his claim that China was the culprit in militarily developing this virus. We also cannot dismiss the working ties Dr. Fauci has and the close financial relationship the president’s son, Hunter, and the Biden family all have with China, as having a profound effect on the new group’s sure to be, rigged findings. It boils down to the wise, old words: “Follow the money (and political) trail.” This troubles us and it should you, as well.

MORT report. (OPINION)

JOE BIDEN, the first faux-president of the United States of America, touted ‘AMERICA UNITED’, in his Inaugural address to the American People.

On May 1, 2021 in Tulsa, OK, he made a beyond-boring, endlessly lurid speech in which he deliberately exploited the celebration of the 1921 horror in that city, when many black people were killed and many more were physically attacked and maimed by disgustingly-bigoted, out of control white morons. He tore a century-old scab off this hardly ever reported, nearly forgotten, terrifying event in our history. He ranted on and on and on.

While it was proper to bring attention to this awful event in our history and to allude to the progress in race relations made since that tragedy that took place a 100 years ago - Biden chose to leap at the opportunity to blatantly attempt currying favor among today’s black population by creating a new level of divisiveness between the races – even going so far as citing what he called, ‘white supremacists’, as the number-one cause of rifts in current race relations.

This is pandering unbecoming the leader of this nation. Sadly, it is just the most recent example of Biden’s utter unfitness to serve as this nation’s President.

Book Review

Hacking Darwin: Genetic Engineering and the Future of Humanity, by Jamie Metzl. Naperville, IL: Sourcebooks, Inc., 2019. Hardcover, 326 pp. ISBN-13: 978-1-4926-7009-4.

I read this book, Hacking Darwin, two years ago, but given the world-wide pandemic we're currently enduring, reviewing it now could not be more timely. Author Jamie Metzl is a technology futurist, geopolitical expert, and media commentator. He holds a PhD from Oxford, a JD from Harvard Law School, and is a magna cum laude Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Brown University.

Metzl writes, "If we brought a child from a thousand years ago into our world today, that child would grow up into an adult indistinguishable from everyone else. But if we did the same for a child we brought back from a thousand years into the future, that baby would be a genetic superhuman by our current standards. He or she would be stronger and smarter than the other children, resistant to many diseases, longer-lived, and have genetic traits today associated with outlier humans like particular forms of genius or with animals like super-keen sensory perceptions."

He wrote this book to lay out his case for "why, even though the human genetic revolution is inevitable and approaching quickly, how this revolution plays out is anything but inevitable and is, in important ways, up to us. To make the smartest collective decisions about our way forward, we'll need to understand what is happening and what's at stake and bring as many of us as possible into the conversation. This book is my humble effort to jump-start the process.

"The door is open to all of us.

"Whether we like it or not, we are all marching toward it. Our future awaits.

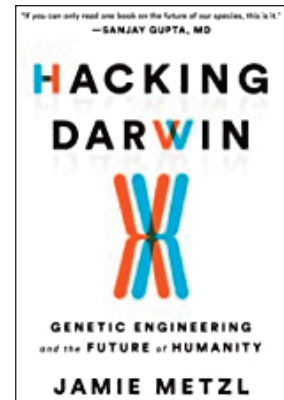

"It should make all of us nervous. If [we] aren't feeling a mixture of excitement and fear, [we] aren't really getting it. Genetic technologies will allow us to do wonderful things that will ease human suffering and unlock potentials that we can hardly imagine. New versions of us, Homo sapiens 2.0 and beyond, will use these new capabilities to invent new technologies, explore new worlds, create phenomenal art, and experience an ever-wider range of emotions. But if we don't get things right, the same technologies could divide societies, create oppressive hierarchies between enhanced and unenhanced people . . . lead us to devalue and commodify human life and even cause major national and international conflict.

"In China, the Communist party quickly banned most abortions after coming to power in 1949 to spur population growth. But after taking over in 1978 following Mao's death and a power struggle, Deng Xiao Ping believed his economic reform plans could only work if China's population growth could be slowed. His government [the Chinese Communist Party] launched the one-child policy in 1979, limiting most Han Chinese families, particularly those in urban areas, to a single child.

"Over the following nearly four decades the one-child policy was in force, most families that had more than one child were heavily fined and a large number of women were forced to have abortions and/or be sterilized without their consent. [This policy] encouraged many parents . . . to abort female embryos, place female babies for adoption, and abandon children born with disabilities. Although the one-child policy was finally eased in 2015, the policy subtracted around 400 million people from China's otherwise predicted population growth period."

Manipulating biology, be it the brutal policies of the Chinese Communist Party or the genetic engineering described in this book, is dangerous stuff and who knows where it will lead, but reading this most informative book will give you some idea of the revolution that is occurring as we speak.

Dr. Anthony Fauci, HIS GUCCINESS

By Tom Mullings

Dr. Anthony Fauci's emails, brought to us via the Freedom of Information Act, seems to have derailed his plans to strike it rich with an upcoming book deal. Reportedly, the book is being "scrubbed," but all the rubbing and scrubbing in the world won't resurrect the doctor's reputation, which may be beyond repair. But I do feel a certain amount of sympathy for the man, so out of respect for his future upper-crust dreams ($), for the rest of this article I'm going to refer to him as: "HIS GUCCINESS."

The Liberal Dems and their numerous media parrots are undoubtedly trying to figure out how to spin this, as they always do at times like this, so that most on the left will swallow their mumbo-jumbo line along with the hook and sinker, simply because they want to. But, still, they have a problem. Ever since they realized that HIS GUCCINESS was anti-Trump, they've anointed him with fawning, saturation coverage, assuring the masses that when it came to anything Covid-19, he should be their go-to guy.

By the way, with regard to the fawning media, there's this gem from Judson Berger, in an excellent piece he wrote for "The Weekend Jolt" on June 5: "Virus expert Peter Hotez told Meet the Press on Sunday: 'There's going to be COVID-26 and COVID-32 unless we fully understand the origins of COVID-19.' (It was a bit rich how the Washington Post article on that same morning attributed the lab-leak theory to 'new reports.')

Now we've all seen the endless reports of the 3,200 pages of emails that reveal HIS GUCCINESS'S lies and hypocrisy about our masks, need to hunker down in our homes, etc., but there is one fact that has been woefully under-reported, even in the conservative press: HIS GUCCINESS'S naïveté. This man, perhaps out of his globalist "we are the world" philosophy, thought it was OK to send this work to a lab in Wuhan, China, confident that they would only use it for the purposes he intended, which begs some serious questions like:

1. Does he know that China is a totalitarian country?
2. Does he even know what a totalitarian country is?
3. Does he know that the doctor running the lab is not really in charge and that the man who is happens to be a general in the People's Liberation Army, and does that ring a bio-weapons-program bell in his head?

Recently FOX NEWS host Laura Ingraham asked Sen. Ron Paul (also a medical doctor) if there could be "criminal capability of fraud or ongoing collaboration with the Chinese when he was making excuses for them?"

"At the very least, there's moral culpability," Paul replied. "In the research done by the bat scientist in Wuhan, she gives him credit, she lists the exact National Institute of Health (NIH) grant with a 10-numeral disclaimer or ID number, listing the money and thanking the NIH for the money. It's clearly Gain of Function. There are several scientists who are in this field, Cellular Biologists, they all say that taking a SARS Virus and adding an S Protein to it to make it infect human cells; that is the very definition of Gain of Function.

It's very dangerous and we shouldn't be doing it here or there . . . and to this day [HIS GUCCINESS] is still saying he would do it again, because he trusts the Chinese scientists."

According to intelligence reports cited by the Wall Street Journal, three of those scientists became sick in autumn 2019, right before the outbreak, "with symptoms consistent with oth Covid-19 and common seasonal illness," and HIS GUCCINESS still trusts these researchers, whom the Communist Party of China keeps muzzled to this day?!

And what does the White House have to say about all these leaked emails? Well, Biden's press secretary just said HIS GUCCINESS was "an undeniable asset and is not going anywhere."

Finally, in keeping with my heartfelt sympathies for HIS GUCCINESS, I'd like to suggest that he go to a quiet room and listen closely with undivided attention, where he will hear a friendly voice (Hillary Clinton) whispering: "YOU SHOULD HAVE BURNED THE EMAILS!"

Tom Mullings is a decorated Army infantry combat veteran of the Vietnam War, who served as a scout dog handler with the 173rd Airborne Brigade. Republican Executive Committee Membership Application

The Republican Executive Committee (also known as the REC) is the governing body of the Republican Party of Palm Beach County. The REC elects the Chairman, Vice Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer of the Party. Members of the REC also approve the Party's constitution; Rules, Policies & Procedures; and budget.

Members of the Republican Executive Committee represent registered Republicans who live in their precinct and serve as the Party's liaison to the Republicans within that precinct. REC members are expected to maintain contact with Republicans living in their precinct and to keep them informed as to what is going on in the Republican Party. This can be done through E-mail or other means like regular mail, phone calls and/or walking your precinct. The REC is the basis for our grassroots efforts and we rely on REC Members to organize and develop their precincts, recruit new volunteers, recruit candidates to fill vacancies on the REC, find sign locations for Republican candidates, register new Republican voters and work to get out the Republican vote in their precincts during elections. The role of committeeman or committeewoman is essential to Republican Party's and our candidates' success in Palm Beach County.

REC Committeeman & Committeewoman Duties and Responsibilities

1. Expected to donate financially to the Republican Party of Palm Beach County
2. Attend REC Meetings
3. Organize your precinct and carry out the policies and programs of the Party within your precinct. Active participation in the various programs of the Party is expected.
4. Serve on a Party Committee.
5. Develop a presence in the broader community by joining a Republican Club; serving on a local board or committee; or monitoring local media for relevant material.

ALL APPLICANTS FOR THE REC MUST BE A REGISTERED REPUBLICAN IN PALM BEACH COUNTY. PLEASE COMPLETE THIS REC APPLICATION FORM AND RETURN IT ALONG WITH A PHOTO COPY OF THE FRONT OF YOUR VOTER REGISTRATION CARD. ANY APPLICATION RECEIVED WITHOUT A COPY OF THE APPLICANT'S VOTER REGISTRATION CARD WILL NOT BE PROCESSED. YOU WILL ALSO NEED THE SIGNATURES BELOW OF TWO CURRENT REC MEMBERS. THE DEADLINE FOR ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS IS 11:00 AM, 14 DAYS PRIOR TO THE REC MEETING.
